

October 2023 Chapter Newsletter

Join your colleagues on Friday October 6th in Salem for the 2023 Professional Development Conference!

PMI WV Professional Development Conference!

Friday, October 6th, 2023, Salem Convention Center

Volunteers have been planning for months. Speakers have been engaged, venue has been booked, menus have been chosen to accommodate most, if not all, preferences. That means a commitment, financially and otherwise. The Chapter Board is concerned you are not receiving notification of this upcoming conference so we are trying to reach you by another medium, so you don't miss out.

The Salem Convention Center is the venue for the 2023 Willamette Valley Professional Development Conference and you are all invited! This year's theme is Influencing Engagement. We have lined up a group of fantastic speakers this year; you might learn a new skill, expand your knowledge on a topic you already know, laugh, and even dance??!! Even better, you can earn between 6.5 and 7 PDUs by attending! So, join your fellow project managers and business analysts to network and have fun!

Registration is $225/person. The group rate for registrations of 8+ is $155/person and the student rate is $80.

Lunch will be provided and will include time for networking.

Check out our website via the link below and register now.

You will make it happen! Do it!

See you there...

If you've never attended a PMI Global Summit, please consider this year's edition in October in Atlanta! Each summit has a prevailing theme that seems to weave its way into many of the presentations given by project management practitioners from all over the world! In 2017, Hybrid Project Management was trending. Last year, in Las Vegas, prominent themes were Digital Transformation and the Evolving Role of the Project Manager. This year will undoubtedly feature many perspectives on the Generative Artificial Intelligence (AI) may have on the project management profession.
